CARMAN ENTRIES REFUSED

Claimed He Is Responsible for One of His Employees Getting Whipped.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—The three entries of H. P. Carman at Santa Anita track were scratched today and his horses will be refused entry until an investigation has been made by the officials of the racing association into an affair which took place last night in which Mat Dooley, former trainer for Carman, was beaten so badly that he is now in a hospital. Dooley claims that Carman and a number of his employees are responsible for his condition and that the trouble between him and his former employers dates back to the time of the Hamilton, Ontario, meeting, nearly four months ago. There was four months' salary due him, he says, and he had made a complaint to Stewards Hamilton and Cole. Carman had a horse named Fleming entered in the last event on last Monday and he was returned a winner. Dooley, who had left Carman's employ, ran the price of the horse up to $500, at which figure it was retained. Dooley says he was met at the door of the stable by Carman, who attacked him.

AN EFFECTIVE DISGUISE.

(Philadelphia Record.)
Clyde Fike, entering a supper party in his beautifully decorated New York house, criticised with telling scorn a drama that he had recently seen.

"The leading incident was so impossible," said he, "that I was reminded of one of those nonsense dialogues. You know how they sing to lay."

"A young man, for instance, says to a friend: 'For all her coldness and austerity, I have kissed Ethel Prym.'"

"Really? doubts the other."

"Yes, really."

"But how on earth did you inflame that icy heart?"

"I didn't inflame her icy heart. That would have been impossible. I simply disguised myself as the Blarney stone."

A SONG OF CHINA EGGS.

(Success Magazine.)
The hen she is an honest bird, and though she sings no lays.

She lays her eggs and favors us in other little ways:

Belike the heroines of old, she lays her young life down

To give us white meat crisply fried with her crumbs rich and brown.

In case she is a rooster, she alarms us with her crow.

To warn us in our drowsy beds 'tis 6 o'clock when she crows.

But oh, her toll is purposeless—of common sense the dogs.

Those who insist on hopelessness che sit on china eggs.

Now perseverance is a trait by which success is won.

But perseverance in this line is highly overdone.

And though the wisest of us makes an error now and then,

For graceless repetition just commend me to the hen.

She mounts her nest of china eggs, and though she never gets

A solitary chicken for her patience, still she "sets."

Experience may teach us of its wisdom now and then,

But never seems successful in the teaching of the hen.

And yet she has her counterpart that goes on human legs.

The world is always full of folks who sit on china eggs.

The fellow with system that will beat a game of chance.

The man who grubstakes Failure—he's the setting hen in pants.

The one who seeks the "ticker" as the way to sudden wealth.

The Newest Novelty who seeks the way to health.

The hen is not the only soul that goes upon two legs.

And moves the world to pity when it sits on china eggs.

The woman who would marry to reform her husband's ways.

The man who always looks for "something solid" in plays.

The one who plays the races with a tip that's right, he knows.

The purchaser of old stock in a well that never flows.

Full half the folks upon the stage who play a simple part.

And more than half the dabblers in the stream of verse and art.

The hen is not the only soul that goes upon two legs.

And sits in stubborn hopefulness upon her china eggs.
